CONSENT PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Parties represented by counsel having agreed to the following, and for good cause shown, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED as follows:

1. Scope

This Order applies to all products of discovery and all information derived therefrom, including, but not limited to, all documents, data compilations, electronically stored information, computer disks, objects or things, deposition testimony, affidavits, interrogatory/request for admission responses, or any other media on which information is recorded, and any copies, excerpts or summaries thereof, obtained by any party pursuant to the requirements of any court order, request for production of documents, request for admissions, interrogatory, or subpoena (collectively, “Discovery Materials”). This Order does not affect any person’s or entity’s use of its own information or documents, nor does it affect the use of any information or documents at trial.

2. “Confidential” Material Defined

For the purposes of this Order, Discovery Materials may be designated as “Confidential” pursuant to Paragraph 4 of this Order. A Designating Entity may designate as “Confidential” any discovery material it reasonably and in good faith believes to contain confidential business information, sensitive financial information, or highly sensitive personal information.

For the purposes of this Order, a “Designating Entity” is any party to this litigation that is producing information or documents in discovery in this action, as well as any third party who is producing the material pursuant to a subpoena in this action.

For the purposes of this Order, “Designated Material” means any material that meets the definition of “Confidential” under this Order, and that has been so designated by any Designating Entity.

3. Use of Designated Material

Unless otherwise expressly permitted by this Court or by express written agreement of the parties, all Designated Material produced or discovered in this case shall be used solely for the prosecution or defense of this case, and shall not be used by any party, their counsel of record, or any other person to whom such Designated Material is disclosed for any other purpose, including, but not limited to, any other litigation or judicial proceedings, or any business, competitive, or commercial purpose or function.

4. Procedure for Designating Material

A Designating Entity shall designate “Confidential” material in the following manners:

- a. In the case of documents or other written materials, by affixing the word “Confidential” by stamp or other method which will make such word conspicuous to each page of the document the Designating Entity wishes to designate.
- b. In the case of electronic data, including but not limited to information produced on a hard drive, cd-rom, dvd-rom, thumb drive, or other electronic media (“medium of production”), by providing written notice to all parties requesting production identifying the material being designated as “Confidential.” To the extent possible, the Designating Entity shall also label the medium of production with the appropriate designation. However, any failure or inability to affix such label to the medium of production shall not waive any protection provided by this Order.

- c. In the case of depositions or other pretrial testimony in this action, by designating any portion or all of a deposition as “Confidential” by notifying the other parties on the record during the deposition, or alternatively, such Entity may designate information by notifying all the parties in writing, within fourteen days of the receipt of the deposition transcript, of the specific pages and lines of the transcript which are to be regarded as “Confidential.” The parties shall automatically treat all information disclosed at a deposition as “Confidential” for fourteen days after receipt of the final version of the transcript.
- d. In the case of written discovery or pleadings, by affixing the word or phrase “Confidential” by stamp or other method to the portions so designated.

Any party may designate discovery materials produced by any third party pursuant to a subpoena as “Confidential” by so informing all other parties and the producing third party. Third parties producing documents or other material pursuant to a subpoena in this case may also designate such documents or materials as “Confidential” pursuant to this Order.

5. Permissible Disclosures of “Confidential” Material

Except as otherwise agreed by the Designating Entity or as ordered by the Court, material designated as “Confidential” may be disclosed to and used only by:

- a. counsel of record for the parties in this case and his/her partners, associates, secretaries, legal assistants, employees, and litigation support vendors to the extent reasonably necessary to render professional services in this case;
- b. the Court or the jury at trial or as exhibits to motions;
- c. court officials involved in this case (including court reporters and persons operating video recording equipment at depositions);
- d. the author of the document and each recipient of a copy of the document, only insofar as the author or recipient is identified on the face of the document;
- e. the parties in this case, including any employees, to the extent reasonably necessary to render professional services in this case and/or to assist with the prosecution or defense of this case;
- f. subject to the limitations below, any person designated by the Court in the interest of justice, upon such terms as the Court may deem proper;
- g. subject to the limitations below, persons in this case noticed for depositions or designated as trial witnesses, only to the extent reasonably necessary in order to conduct the examination of such person or to prepare such person to testify;

- h. subject to the limitations below, outside consultants or outside experts in this case, including their support personnel, retained for the purpose of assisting counsel of record or inside counsel of the parties in this case or to serve as an expert witness in this case; and
- i. subject to the limitations below, any mediator in this case.

The parties shall obtain from any individual to whom disclosure is to be made under subparagraphs (f) through (i) above a signed Acknowledgement of Protective Order, attached hereto as Exhibit A, prior to such disclosure. Counsel providing access to such material shall retain copies of the executed Acknowledgement(s) and shall produce such Acknowledgement(s) to the parties upon request.

6. Inadvertent Disclosures

- a. The parties agree that in the event the producing party or other person inadvertently fails to designate materials hereunder, it may make such a designation subsequently by notifying all persons and parties to whom such materials were produced, in writing, within fourteen days of the producing party first discovering such inadvertent disclosure. In no event, however, may a producing party or other person designate or re-designate inadvertently produced materials within thirty days prior to trial. After receipt of such notification, the persons to whom production has been made shall prospectively treat the designated materials as “Confidential” material, subject to their right to dispute such designation in accordance with Paragraph 8. The receiving party shall not be in violation of this Protective Order for any disclosure of information made prior to receiving such notification.

- b. With regard to privileged information or documents, nothing herein shall be deemed to waive or limit any applicable privilege or work product or other protection, or to affect the ability of a Party to seek relief for an inadvertent disclosure of matter protected by privilege or work product protection. If a Party or Non-Party inadvertently produces matter that it in good faith later asserts to be privileged or otherwise protected from disclosure, to the extent allowed by law, the production of that matter will not constitute a waiver of any applicable privileges or other protection, provided the producing Party or Non-Party complies with this paragraph. In such circumstances, the producing Party or Non-Party must, promptly after discovery of the inadvertent production, notify in writing all Parties to the Action in which the matter was inadvertently produced of the inadvertent production and the basis for the privilege or other protection, and request in writing the return or confirmed destruction of the inadvertently produced privileged or protected matter. Upon such notification, the Parties shall treat the matter as privileged or protected unless and until the Parties agree otherwise or the Court determines the matter is not privileged or protected. Within five business days of receiving such notification, all receiving Parties shall (a) return the matter to the producing Party or Non-Party; or (b) confirm in writing to the producing Party or Non-Party the destruction of all such matter, including all excerpts, summaries, compilations, and other documents or records that include, communicate or reveal matter claimed to be privileged or protected, or (c) notify the producing Party or Non-Party in writing of the basis for its disagreement that such matter is privileged or protected from disclosure. In the last event only, the receiving Party or Parties may retain one copy of the matter asserted to be privileged for the sole purpose of responding to a motion by the producing Party or Non-Party to deem the matter privileged or protected from disclosure and shall comply with (a) or (b) above with respect to all other copies of such matter and all other documents or records that include, communicate or reveal matter claimed to be privileged or protected. Should the Parties be unable to agree on whether the matter is privileged or protected, the producing Party or Non-Party shall file a motion with the Court within fifteen days of its receipt of the receiving party's notice of disagreement under (c) above, to deem the matter privileged or protected and to obtain the return of any copy of such matter still held by the receiving Party. To the extent allowed by law, the production of any privileged information will not be deemed a waiver of privilege regarding any other information.

7. Designations of Material in Filings and at Trial

Without written permission from the Designating Party or a court order, all Designated Material filed with or submitted to the Court shall be provisionally filed under seal and accompanied by a motion that the material be placed under seal. The parties shall seek the assistance of the trial court in protecting the confidentiality of Designated Materials at trial or any pre-trial or post-trial hearings. It is understood by the parties that any documents which become part of an official judicial proceeding or which are filed with the Court are public documents, and that such documents can and will be sealed by the Court only upon motion and in accordance with applicable law and the Local Rules of this district, including Local Civil Rule 6.1. This Protective Order does not provide for the automatic sealing of such documents. The fact that Designated Materials have been designated as “Confidential” shall not constitute dispositive proof that the Materials in fact contain confidential information entitled to protection from disclosure under law.

Nothing in this Order shall be construed to limit the evidence that any party may offer at hearing or at trial, nor shall it be construed to limit any claim or defense of any party.

8. Relief from Protective Order

This Order shall be without prejudice to the right of any party to oppose production of any information on any ground, except confidentiality.

Any party may at any time request, in writing, from any Designating Entity the removal of a designation of documents, material, information, or things as “Confidential.” Upon receipt of such request, the parties shall confer in good faith as to the status of the subject information. If the parties are unable to agree upon the status of the subject information, any party may, upon reasonable notice to the opposing party’s counsel, move for an order relieving them of the provisions of this Order for good cause shown to be determined by the Court, or may, upon reasonable notice, challenge a designation by motion to the Court. In such instances, the Designating Entity shall bear the burden of establishing that the challenged documents, material, information, or things are entitled to protection under this Protective Order. Until the Court enters an Order changing the designation, such material shall be subject to the restrictions initially assigned to it and provided for it in this Protective Order. The parties hereto retain the right to apply to the Court for an order affording additional protection to any material produced herein as the circumstances may warrant.

9. Subpoena by Other Courts or Agencies

If another court or an administrative agency subpoenas or otherwise orders production of “Confidential” material that a person has designated under the terms of this Order, the person to whom the subpoena or other process is directed shall (1) promptly object to the production of such material by setting forth the existence and force of this Protective Order and (2) notify the Designating Entity of the subpoena or order within three days of receiving such subpoena and provide a complete copy of the subpoena or order to the Designating Entity.

10. Non-Termination

This Order shall survive the final conclusion of this case and shall continue in full force and effect, and the Court shall retain jurisdiction to enforce this Order. Within ninety days after the final conclusion of this case (including the contemplation of any appeals), all Designated Material produced in this litigation shall, upon request of the Designating Entity, be either destroyed or returned to that entity; provided, however, that counsel for each party may retain for their respective files one copy of such Designated Material that does not constitute protected health information.

Notwithstanding any of the foregoing, the parties' counsel may retain any privileged attorney work product they have created which incorporates Designated Material on the condition that they will maintain the confidentiality of such material and will not use such material in contravention of the provisions of this Order.

The provisions of this Paragraph do not apply to Confidential information provided to the Court or appearing on the Court's docket, which information may be subject to a final order of the Court upon the conclusion of the litigation.

11. Modification and Non-Waiver

Nothing in this Order shall prevent any party or other person from seeking modification of this Order or from objecting to discovery that it believes to be otherwise improper. The designation or non-designation of information shall not affect the materiality, relevance, or admissibility of any information, except as set forth herein.

12. Improper Disclosure of Designated Material

Disclosure of Designated Material other than in accordance with the terms of this Protective Order may subject the disclosing person to such sanctions and remedies as this Court may deem appropriate.

13. Protected Health Information

In addition to the other terms and conditions of this Order, including but not limited to all other restrictions and obligations set forth in this Order related to the use or disclosure of the products of discovery and all information derived therefrom, the terms and conditions of this Section 13 are applicable to all products of discovery and all information derived therefrom that contain “protected health information” (as defined below).

- a. For the purposes of this qualified protective order, the term “protected health information” shall have the meaning set forth in 45 C.F.R. § 160.103.
- b. All “covered entities” (as defined by 45 C.F.R. § 160.103) are hereby authorized to disclose protected health information in the course of the above-captioned litigation, including without limitation to the attorneys representing the Plaintiff and Defendants herein, in response to a subpoena, discovery request, or other lawful process.
- c. Subject to the other restrictions and obligations set forth in this Order related to the use or disclosure of the products of discovery and all information derived therefrom, the parties and their attorneys shall be permitted to use or disclose the protected health information only for the purposes of prosecuting or defending this action, including any appeals of this case. This includes, but is not limited to, disclosure to a party’s attorneys, experts, consultants, court personnel, court reporters, copy services, trial consultants, and other entities or persons involved in the litigation process.

- d. Before disclosing protected health information to any person for the purpose of prosecuting or defending this litigation, counsel for the party making the disclosure shall inform each such person that protected health information may not be used or disclosed for any purpose other than this litigation and shall obtain from the person a signed Acknowledgement of Protective Order in the form of Exhibit A. The provisions of this paragraph do not apply to the disclosure of protected health information to the Court.
- e. Within ninety days after the conclusion of the litigation including appeals, the parties, their attorneys, and any person to whom protected health information has been disclosed shall return to the covered entity or destroy any and all copies of protected health information that is subject to this paragraph fourteen and in their possession or control, except that counsel are not required to secure the return or destruction of protected health information submitted to the court. The provisions of this Paragraph do not apply to protected health information provided to the Court or appearing on the Court's docket, which information may be subject to a final order of the Court upon the conclusion of the litigation.

- f. This Order does not control or limit the use of protected health information that comes into the possession of the parties or their attorneys from a source other than a “covered entity,” as that term is defined in 45 C.F.R. § 160.103, which protected health information is not subject to the requirements this paragraph fourteen (14).
- g. Nothing in this Order authorizes counsel to obtain medical records or information through means other than formal discovery requests, subpoenas, depositions, pursuant to a patient authorization, or other lawful process.
- h. This Order does not authorize either party to seal court filings or court proceedings. The Court will make a good cause determination for filing under seal if and when the parties seek to file protected health information under seal, in conformity with the Local Rules of this district, including Local Civil Rule 6.1.

14. Effectiveness

This Order shall be binding on the parties as an enforceable contract upon its execution by the parties’ respective counsel. This Order shall be effective as an Order of the Court upon its entry by the Court.
